Foreign Intelligence.

FRANCE.

PARIS, August 27.

Suwarrow commanded in perſon that body of troops which charged ours four times and ended in being all deſtroyed. There have ſeldom been ſeen battles equally bloody. Our artillery did not retire until they had expended all their ammunition.

The new miniſter for foreign affairs, Reinhart, is arrived at Paris.

Maſſena, notwithſtanding the ſucceſs he has obtained, perſiſts in giving in his reſignation. He is waiting for his ſucceſſor.

The ſalaries of the deputies are one month in arrears: thoſe of the directors and of the miniſters, are ſtill more ſo.

Ruſtle's Report.

To the Council of Five Hundred.

"Citizens Repreſentatives, the principal cauſe of the dangers of the country undoubtedly ariſes from the violation of the Ottoman territory, by the expedition of Egypt, becauſe it has drawn the Turks into the new coalition, and the Auſtro-Ruſſians, conſequently freed from every ſort of uneaſineſs with reſpect to that power, have ſent againſt us ſuperior forces, and may ſtill ſend to their laſt man. The expedition of Egypt, which beſides was made in contempt of the Conſtitution, and of the national repreſentation itſelf, it the moſt real, and the moſt ſerious conſpiracy that has yet exiſted againſt the interior and exterior ſafety of the republic. Let it not be ſaid, that it is the want of abilities in the Ex-Directors, which has occaſioned our preſent reverſe; it is really their treachery, for we ſee that they broke with the United States of America, at the very moment of their rupture with the Ottoman empire, thus to give more ſtability and extent to all the branches of the new coalition; this opinion is farther ſupported when we add to theſe two events, all the other enormities which their agents have been committing for theſe two years in Holland, in Switzerland, and in Italy. What! the Ottoman empire, the powers of Barbary, and the United States of America, who never would have thought nor conſented to ſecond the coalition, were openly provoked to it by thoſe very men, whoſe duty it was to keep up a good underſtanding with them at all events: and do not theſe circumſtances clearly denote a correſpondence with the coaleſced parties; in fine, a perfect coincidence with their plan of arming all the world againſt us? But do we wiſh to cruſh this conſpiracy, to force the Ruſſians to return to their country, and deprive the Engliſh of their influence in America? If this be our deſire, we muſt make peace with the Turks and the Americans; we muſt preſent them with a national diſavowal of the violences, which they have ſuffered. We muſt; but as the beſt method of expreſſing the diſavowal in queſtion, is to accuſe the members of the Directory who are the authors of the violation of the Ottoman territory, and of our rupture with the United States of America, I am of opinion, citizens repreſentatives, that all your attention ſhould be directed to this meaſure."

LONDON, September 2.

It is rumoured, that the Jupiter, of 50 guns, Commodore Loſſack, with a ſquadron of frigates, has fallen in with the French ſquadron on their return to the Mauritius, driven them aſhore, and deſtroyed the whole of them.

It is aſſerted, we know not on what authority, that ſeveral Britiſh officers, ſuppoſed to have died in the priſons of Hyder Ally and Tippoo, have been found ſtill living in the dungeon of Seringapatam.

The ſucceſsful termination of this ſhort war ſecures to us the ſovereignty of India. The Nabob of Arcot, who once ſhared the Carnatic with Hyder Alli, is no longer powerful, and the Mahrattas alone poſſeſs extenſive territories, and a conſiderable military force. But the Mahrattas are attached to us, and even if they were not, the deſtruction of Tippoo would effectually prevent them from riſkng a conteſt.

MISCELLANEOUS ARTICLES.

The famous ſtrong paſs, called the Bochetta, is again mentioned in ſome accounts to have been taken on the 18th, and the allies, it is added, had entered Genoa on the 21ſt ult. at which time an Engliſh ſquadron was cruizing before that city.

A letter from the commander of the Daniſh naval force in the Mediterranean, contains the diſagreeable intelligence, that the Dey of Tripoli has declared war againſt the Hanſe Towns, Hamburg, Lubeck, and Bremen, and that a Tripoline corſair has already captured off Alicant, two Daniſh ſhips and ſent them to Tunis, under the pretence of their cargoes being Hamburgh property.

We have great reaſon to believe that the Chouans are again in great force; and very active, though ſecret preparations are making in a certain quarter, for powerful ſuccour to be ſent them.

The directory have publiſhed throughout Paris a proclamation, in which they endeavour to alarm the people with the idea of the return of Royalty. In this proclamation, both the danger and the exhortation to provide againſt it, are ſtated in the moſt general terms. The Directory however do not appear to rely for the ſupport of their authority merely on their powers of conciliation.

Letters from Venice ſtate, that a conclave is to be held either in that city or Padua, for the election of a new Pope.

No leſs than three or four candidates are mentioned for this dignity?

THE LAY PREACHER.

"THESE BE THE DAYS OF VENGEANCE."

FROM theſe words the preacher might naturally be led to a conſideration of the aſtoniſhing ſcenes which are at this time diſplayed in every part of the world; and to notice the general "affliction, ſuch as was not from the beginning of the creation which God created, unto this time." "Wars and rumours of wars" are daily ſounded in our ears—"Nation riſeth up againſt nation, and kingdom againſt kingdom," and "the earth is filled with violence."

Theſe are great and awful ſcenes worthy the contemplation of the philoſopher, the politician and the chriſtian. My deſign, however, leads me, more particularly, to notice the source and nature of the "vengeance" which "evil minded men" are endeavoring to bring upon our own country, by ſapping the foundation of morality and civil ſubordination.

It is worthy of remark, that though haughty and tyrannical men often put on the appearance of humility and moderation, for the purpoſe of compaſſing an end, "the days of vengeance" will aſſuredly follow when they will reſume their proper character, and "come down with great wrath" upon ſuch as have oppoſed their wicked purpoſes, and with as great inſolence and ſcorn upon ſuch as have been their devoted abettors.

Since the world began, there has ever been an order of beings, to whom the ſceptre of virtue has been like a rod of iron, and the reſtraints of law, morality and religion, grievous as the bands of death. This order may be lineally traced, through every age, up to its firſt founder, who, in the days of yore, was honored with the title of "That old ſerpent the Devil." His partizans and followers have ſince been denominated "ſons of Beliel"—"deſpiſers of government," levellers, jacobins and democrats. Though by miſtake or wicked intent, ſome have been "falſely ſo called;" and others "among the ſimple ones" have been unwarily decoyed into the paths of error, the great body of them have ſupported a conſiſtency and uniformity of character, and proved themſelves "worthy of their ſire." "Liberty and equality" was the original motto of the order, and continues, at the preſent day, to be the ſignal of attack upon every ſacred inſtitution, human and divine.

To paſs over the firſt revolution in which the arch-democrat loſt his franchiſe in Heaven, we next find him inculcating the doctrines of his order upon the minds of our progenitors. He firſt perſuades them to exerciſe the "liberty" which they manifeſtly poſſeſs, of revolutionizing the conſtitution of Heaven, and backs the perſuaſion with the reſiſtleſs argument of "equality," telling them "ye ſhall be as gods." Elated by theſe flattering proſpects, they greedily make the experiment. But when they fondly look to become the equals of God himſelf, "behold, ſudden deſtruction cometh upon them!" and the days of their anticipated glory ſadly prove to "be the days of vengeance."

The diſciples of the adverſary, in this and in every age, have faithfully copied his example,—flattering to deceive, and deceiving to deſtroy. "Ungodly men, who walk after their own luſts,"—"riotous men" and "wine-bibbers" have long been practiſing their ſubtile arts to perſuade the people of this country to proſtitute their hard-earned liberty, like our parents of old, to the purpoſes of their own deſtruction. They exerciſe every artifice, which they inherit from the original founder of their ſect, to bring into contempt and diſrepute the venerable inſtitutions and wholeſome uſages of our fathers, and to ſet in the "high places" of authority, men of their own ſort, who "have a like proportion of lineaments, of manners and of ſpirit." They ſlander and traduce thoſe men and thoſe meaſures that alone contribute to the ſupport of our dignity and our happineſs. "The baſer ſort" they employ in writing and printing evil reports "of thoſe things which they underſtand not," reviling religion, ſcience and government. They tell you from the pen of an unlettered ſcape-jail that your peaceable brethren, in the eaſt country, are conſpiring againſt your liberties:——That the clergy and the colleges are uniting their efforts to bring you into ſubjection to a clerical deſpotiſm. But "believe them not" for "they are liars and the truth is not in them." It is one of the "ſubtile arts of the adverſary" to lead your affections aſtray from each other, and induce you to ſtop your ears againſt the ſalutary truths of religion, and to demoliſh your ſeminaries of ſcience, thoſe ſtrong holds of rational liberty and dignified enjoyment.—"Theſe be the days," in which you who are friends to good order and good government ought to ſupport, vigorouſly, the inſtitutions of religion; to "encourage the hearts and ſtrengthen the hands" of thoſe who "miniſter in holy things;" to inſtruct your children and form their minds to habits of order, ſcience and virtue. The "ſons of Beliel" are ſtriving, "by good words and fair ſpeeches" to place themſelves and their adherents in the ſeats of power. Be watchful, therefore—be circumſpect, and uſe your liberty of ſuffrage "as not abuſing it;" for ſhould the "deſpiſers of government" obtain their end, they will exerciſe "vengeance" equally on their oppoſers and abettors; for

> "'Tis in common proof.
> That lowlineſs is young ambition's ladder,
> Whereto the climber upward turns his face;
> But when he once attains the upmoſt round,
> He then unto the ladder turns his back,
> Looks into the clouds, ſcorning the baſe degrees
> By which he did aſcend."

In theſe days the "ſervants of ſin," in ſome meaſure, triumph. Having inſinuated themſelves into favor, they uſe their power, as their father did his, for the ruin and miſery of thoſe whom they have deluded. The virtuous and the upright are beginning to deſpond, becauſe their "good is evil ſpoken of," and "what is comely envenoms him that bears it." Some, for fear of the "vengeance," are beginning to deſert the cauſe of truth and virtue, and are becoming "the ſervants of corruption." But believe me, my brethren, they are leaning upon a broken reed. Let us rather "continue ſtedfaſt unto the end" and "not be weary of well doing; for, in due time, we ſhall reap if we faint not."

The Lay Preacher of Pennſylvania.

The rampant ſerment of the preſent day in France is "war unto death, to the government of England and the houſe of Auſtria!" Thoſe moon-ſtruck maniacs ſeem indeed, to be in no unlikely way of warring themſelves unto death, againſt England.

If it be true, as ſome deep ones have ſurmiſed, that the combined powers have reſolved to make the Jus Publicum yield to the Canon Law, and to know no neutrals, in the preſent conteſt, the ſituation of America will, indeed, become awkward and critical—admitting of no relief even from the brave and manly ſcenes of abuſe, hurled at thoſe powers by jacobinic and time-ſerving gazettes; ſince their denunciations muſt fall hurtleſs by the ſide of deſpots, whoſe crimes leave no room for abuſe; and ſince, even were it juſt, a wound is not leſs a wound, for that it is unwiſely or diſhonorably ſtricken. If ſuch a perplexity ſhould await us, therefore, it will be reſiſted by ſuperior wiſdom, to that which talks of it, as one of the common triviæ of national intercourſe, But, it is not believed, that there is reaſon to talk about it at all; and it is believed, that it has been talked of, only with evil intentions, by men who delight to diſplay, an unnatural and inhuman ſpirit of repugnancy to all mankind; and who, in order to have an opportunity of indulging this wolfiſh diſpoſition, in order to ſet America completely apart from, and at odds with all the world, occupy themſelves in fabricating evidences of diſpoſitions, calculated to add fuel to the mephitic flame.

In about three weeks, the next ſeſſion of Congreſs commences. The firſt workings of the unrighteous leaven, wherewith it is leavenened, will be an attempt to draw from the new pacific advance towards the French Republic, arguments for the abolition of the army and navy. Whatever other beneficial or adverſe reſults may ariſe out of the negociation to be attempted, one thing appears certain; viz. the impoſſibility of any ceſſation taking place in the depredations of the French, upon the commerce of this country. In the firſt place, the ſyſtem of privateering is a prime ſource of their revenue; and in the ſecond, that government poſſeſſes not the power to reſtrain its ſubjects, from purſuing their aggrandizement in this, as well as other ways, per fas et nefas. Tertio, it would be a conceſſion and an acknowledgement of crime, which would be converted even by acceſſaries, into engines of deſtruction to the reigning powers. Our navy will therefore, if there exiſt any true policy (a thing not to be doubted) receive additional ſtrength and encouragement.

Our information ſtates, that ſerious diſcontent has been excited, even in New England, thro' the uſual means of democratic artifice and intrigue: The principal topic converted to this purpoſe, has been the army of the United States. The abſurdity of democrats being equal to their viciouſneſs, 'twere folly to attempt inſtilling any rational ideas into their minds; it is, nevertheleſs, obvious, that to organize the ſovereign people into an armed force, is to realize, in the compleateſt degree, the very favorite ſyſtem of their hearts; for it is certainly no petitio principii to aſſert, that men when congregated together, and poſſeſſed of the means of enforcing that ſovereignty of their natures which is inalienable, are more truly in the enjoyment of ſaid rights, than when in a diſperſed ſtate, and without thoſe means. Now, no one will pretend to deny that in an army, the firſt mentioned ſtate exiſts. It may perhaps be pretended, that, being under command of their officers, they will be influenced againſt their wiſhes; but are the officers leſs ſovereign than they? and are they not endowed with the ſame natures and the ſame deſires? If, therefore, men when in that ſituation where they enjoy moſt of the attributes of ſovereignty, are found leaſt ſovereign, what is it but an evidence that they were never deſigned to be ſo?

St. Jonathan Robbins ranks as Firſt Martyr in the American Democratic Calendar. Marat, the ruffian revolutioniſt of France, was the firſt ſaint of the original Jacobins; and who more proper to enjoy the honor of martyrdom, amongſt their eleves and imitators than a Pirate and a Murderer? Is there not a fitneſs of things, in it, as caſuiſts ſay?

We are informed that the commiſſioners on the part of Spain, and of the United States, for running the line between the Floridas and the United States, have arrived at St. Mary's, and are now proceeding to aſcertain the ſource of the St. Mary's river.

PROPHECIES.

[Translated from a work entitled Almanach des Honnêtes Gens, published at Paris in the year 1793.

Prophecies of Saint Cézaire, Bishop of Arles, who died in the year 542, extracted from a Book entitled LIBER MIRABILIS. They are faithfully translated; and may be verified by an examination into the text at the Library, in the rue de Richelieu.

"The administrators of this Realm, shall be so blinded, that they shall be left without defenders.

"The hand of God shall be stretched out upon them and upon the rich.

"The nobles shall be despoiled of their dignities and of their goods.

"Schism shall spring up in the church of God; there shall be two spouses, the one true, the other adulterous; the legitimate spouse shall be put to flight.

"There shall be as great an effusion of blood as in the time of the Gentiles.

"The church universal, the whole world shall deplore the ruin and the loss of its most celebrated city. [Rome.]

"The Capital is mistress of France, the altars and the temples shall be destroyed.

"The holy virgins shall be outraged; they shall see their monasteries.

"The pastors shall be chased from their seats.

"The Church shall be despoiled of its temporal goods.

"But there shall be seen to appear the Black Eagle and the Lion, arriving from countries afar off.

Misery to thee, opulent city! thou shalt make merry amidst all; but the end will come. Misery to thee, city of Philosophy! thou shalt see thyself in subjection.

"The king shall be humiliated even to confusion; but he shall resume the Crown of Lilies, and shall destroy the children of Brutus."

DIALOGUE OF THE DEAD.

[Translated from the Almanach des Honnêtes Gens.]

MIRABEAU. Ah, what! is it you, monsieur le ci-devant Duke?

LAROCHEFOUCAULD. Ah! do I see you there, Monsieur le ci-devant Count?

Mir. You arrive in good time, for you had not yet become decrepit.

Laroch. You have arrived here in still better season than myself.

Mir. Oh! my dear ci-devant Duke, they arrive here at all hours, at every age.

Laroch. Do not astonish yourself then, at seeing me here.

Mirab. Pardon me, I am astonished at it. As for me, I followed pleasure as a business: railing, disputing, scribbling one half the day, drunk the other half; a libertine to excess, such courses of life have advanced my journey many years. But you,—you were a little Cato; you pursued a conduct which promised you a lengthened old age.

Laroch. And is that any reason for arriving late in this country? Cato of whom you speak, did not he arrive here before his time? and Seneca —— ?

Mir. Ah! it is not then your natural death that brings you amongst us?

Laroch. My natural death? oh! a most villain-like death. I had my throat cut, I was assassinated, carved up by raggamuffins. And do you think that, truly, a natural death for a Duke, for a man of my name, for a gentleman decorated with the cordon rouge, for a legislator, for a president of department?

Mir. You frighten me, and although I am incapable of suffering, I feel re-kindled within me the boilings of choler against him who has cut your throat, assassinated you, cut you in pieces by means of raggamuffins. Who is this same monster?

Laroch. YOU.

Mir. Me! I who am here, have been above for the purpose of decollating you! Come, my dear ci-devant Duke, you have not got your head well sent back yet.

Laroch. Oh! I know that you are not credulous: but believe in your ears and your eyes. Do you see on the opposite borders of the Styx, that innumerable crowd which presses to pass to our side? Do you hear the answer which all those people make to the heart of flint, who is astonished at such a concourse?

Mir. I see..... ah! just heaven! it is she herself! I see a princess of Savoy..... oh! how is she disfigured! What a numerous and strange crowd follows her! Messieurs of the Clergy of France, magistrates, men of letters, ministers, administraters, municipal officers, justices of the peace. Ah! day of God, this will never have an end! but tell me, then, my dear ci-devant Duke, that poor France is then depopulated!

Laroch. Listen, listen to the answer which they give to Charon who asks them: who is the monster who has murdered you all!

Mir. Ah! yes, I learn with wonder! they all answer: it is Mirabeau: but by the holy declaration of rights, I do not revisit the earth; those dead are all fools. I swear by all the infernal powers, that in my whole life I never killed any body, still less should I, being all the while a poor shade, return to occupy myself in the pastime of killing those alive. I must, in order to that, revisit that villainous land which they inhabit, and I have not, I assure you, any penchant that way. Perhaps you, who are versed in history, are acquainted with that of Orpheus; you know that men never quit the regions which I inhabit.

Laroch. Yes, Yes, but in coming to inhabit them, you left in those which you quitted, your poignards. It is those poignards which are plunged into the breasts of the living.

Mir. Of what poignards do you tell me? in the name of the Gods, give me the explication of this enigma! Hold, my dear ci-devant Duke, if you tell me that it is the aristocrats who have dispatched all those new-comers, I should understand that the aristocrats have had the upper-hand, and that they have taken their revenge; but as, I see amongst these dead, still more of aristocrats than of constitutionalists, I can comprehend nothing but nothing at all, as to what I see, or as to what I hear.

Laroch. You will understand by and by; all those dead there, are about to develope to you, very clearly, how, with your foolishness, your atrocities, your declaration of rights, your pestiferous theories, your impure doctrine concerning the government of nations, you have left men of substance without force, and have subjected them to the direction of villains. I have not time to unveil to you all of this, I am hastening to betake myself to that quarter of the Elysian fields where dwell Bayle, Epicurus, D'Alembert, Diderot, Voltaire, J. J. Rousseau; it would retard me from going to forget in the pleasure of their society, all the disgraces of my other life. Where are they? shew me their dwelling.

Mir. Where are they? You must not think to find them here, my dear ci-devant Duke, they are *aux petites-maisons.

Laroche. Aux petites-maisons!

Mir. Yes, indeed! They have them in this world as well as in the other. If they had been left with the other shadows, they would have made pretty business for us here. Pluto knew it long since, and it is not for nothing that he holds a sceptre of iron. He puts in probation all men of that description who come amongst us; if they prove incorrigible, he dispatches them aux petites-maisons; he swore to me the other day, that without this precaution, his empire would infallibly have been overthrown.

Laroch. But why are not you then in those petites-maisons?

Mir. I also wished, on arriving here, to regale the dead with my common place topics of independence, equality, &c: one day, in the midst of one of my harangues, the hussars of Proserpine came to seize me: I was put in the place of Ixion, and condemned to roll the rock of Sisyphus; when I relaxed in my toil, Cerberus gave me a bite with his teeth. You may conceive that I found this this exercise most unpleasant. At the end of three days, I asked pardon, and obtained it; and since, have never been seized with a phantasy to recommence my harangues.

Laroch. Behold, here, the first prodigy which strikes my eyes on arriving amongst the dead: I here find Mirabeau wise.

Mir. A truce to jesting, Monsieur le President de departement; we do not blame that here between men who have the same wrongs to reproach each other with. And now in my turn, I will put a question to you. In what state have you left the king of the French, his spouse, whom I have so much calumniated, her interesting sister, her amiable daughter, and the little prince-royal of such flattering hopes.....?

Laroch. Ah! in mercy, proceed no farther; lead me to the river of Lethe, that I may go quickly to drink of it a large cup, to enable me to forget that unfortunate family: if I were to think of them, I should find an hell even in the Elysian fields.

Mir. And my glory! Do they still throng continually to the Pantheon, to strew coronets upon my tomb?

Laroch. Your glory passes with no greater currency amongst the living than that of Cartouche and of Ravaillac: at this hour that I am speaking to you, your ashes are unurned, and cast to the winds, as those of a vile thief.

Mir. What is it you tell me? Those aristocrats, then, have quickly regained the ground they lost by my means!

Laroch. Ah! no; aristocracy had nothing to do with all that; but see those Messieurs who are advancing, you will be able to gather from them all that you wish to know. Tell me, before we part, who are then the sages of this new world, and where must I go to find them?

Mir. Take to the right, traverse those meads enamelled with flowers, and which you perceive to be sprinkled with little silver rivulets; at the end of these you will find an enchanted country, which combines all the delights of the empire of the gods. It is there are the dwellings of Fenelon, of Bossuet, of Turenne, of the great Condé, of Louis XI, of Louis XIV, of Racine, of Boileau, of Bourdaloue, of Pompignan, of Greffet, and of all those who resemble them. I council you to sojourn there; you will find it well to do so. Adieu.

Laroch, How were we in error above! and wherefore have I, like Mirabeau, waited till dead to be wise?

* Not being adept in the French language, I am at a loss for a meaning to this term. If it is meant, that each of those atheistical artificers of ruin, inhabits a separate templum Cloacinæ, it must be confessed that they are appositely disposed of. A few philosophers of the same stock might be spared from America. It is said of the righteous, that they rest from their labors, and their works follow them: What, then, more natural, than that the fate of the profane should be, to rest from their labors, and follow their works?

IN PRIVY COUNCIL.

Saturday, 5th October, 1799.

His honor the lieutenant-governor laid before the Board a Circular Letter from his Grace the Duke of Portland, one of his Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, stating, that in consequence of opening the Ports in his Majesty's West-India islands, to foreign vessels, for the importation of provisions, Muscovado Sugar had been permitted in several of the Islands, to be exported in American bottoms, in return for the provisions brought in those vessels which is not only contrary to the laws of Navigation but very detrimental to the commercee, navigation and revenue of Great-Britain, especially as sugar now pays no duty on such exportation; and submitted to the board, the propriety of amending their resolution of 28th August, 1798, in regard to such return cargoes:

The Board having taken the same into their most serious consideration:

Resolved, That his honor the lieutsnant-governor be advised, to recommend to the several offices of his Majesty's customs, at the several ports of this island, to permit the free importation of sheep, hogs, poultry, small live stock of all kind, and all sorts of fruit, salted and all other provisions and lumber of every description, as well in British as in all other vessels belonging to neutral and other states in amity with Great-Britain, from the day of the date hereof until the first day of March next, and until six months notice should be given to the contrary; upon the like terms, charges and conditions, and subject to the same rules, regulations, visitations and searches, as are observed with respect to vessels importing provisions to this island.

True Extract.

M. ATKINSON, Cl. Con.

Yesterday morning Peter Peterson, alias Peter Croix, Joseph Burca or Bruca, and Joseph Baker, alia Berouse, the three pirates brought in by captain Tingey, were examined before the honourable Richard Peters, judge of the district court. They severally confessed the horrid facts with which they were charged, and acknowledged that one of them, who calls himself Joseph Berouse, began by killing the mate on the deck, having as he alledged a quarrel about hauling one of the ropes. The supercargo was next killed as he was coming up the cabin stairs, being first struck by Peterson; and when he afterwards recovered, and was again making his way on deck, Berouse, the youngest of the confederates, gave him a mortal blow with the handspike. The fore-mast man was afterwards killed by Berouse, after a short conflict. Terms were made with the captain, who recovered possession of his vessel by a great exertion of courage and address, keeping one of the pirates secured on deck, and the other two fastened below during 13 days, till he carried the vessel into St. Bartholomews.

They all professed to be Frenchmen; and it appeared from the account given by Berouse, the Ringleader, that captain Wheland had generously given him a passage on board the schooner.

They will receive their trials the next stated sessions, to be held the 11th April one thousand eight-hundred.

SIR,

"Greenleaf's New Daily Advertiser" of this morning contains a publication entitled, "Extract of a letter from Philadelphia, dated September 20th" which charges me with being at the "bottom" of an "Effort recently made to suppress the Aurora" (a newspaper of that city) by pecuniary means.

It is well known, that I have long been the object of the most malignant calumnies of the faction opposed to our government through the medium of the papers devoted to their views—Hitherto I have forborne to resort to the laws for the punishment of the authors or abettors; and were I to consult personal considerations alone, I should continue in this course, repaying hatred with contempt. But public motives now compel me to a different conduct. The designs of that faction to overturn our government, and with it the great Pillars of social security and happiness, in this country, become every day more manifest, and have of late acquired a degree of system, which render them formidable. One principal Engine for effecting the scheme, is by audacious falsehoods to destroy the confidence of the people in all those, who are in any degree conspicuous among the supporters of the government;—An Engine which has been employed in time past with too much success, and which, unless counteracted, in future, is likely to be attended with very fatal consequences—To counteract it is therefore a duty to the community.

Among the specimens of this contrivance, that which is the subject of the present Letter, demands peculiar attention. A bolder calumny; one more absolutely destitute of foundation was never propagated. And its dangerous tendency needs no comment; being calculated to inspire the belief, that the Independence and Liberty of the Press are endangered by the intrigues of ambitious Citizens, aided by Foreign Gold.

In so flagrant a case, the force of the laws must be tried. I therefore request that you will take immediate measures towards the prosecution of the persons who conduct the enclosed paper.

With great consideration,
I am, Sir,
Your obdient Servant,
A. HAMILTON.

JOSIAH O. HOFFMAN, Esq. Atty. Gen.
In his absence,
C. COLDEN, Esq. A. A. General.

STATEMENT OF FACTS.

To the EDITOR.

SIR,

An incorrect representation having been made in the Commercial Advertiser of last evening, you are requested to give the following statement of facts:

In consequence of a misunderstanding having taken place between Mr. Cadwallader R Colden, and Mr. John S. Provost, they had a meeting on Tuesday afternoon at Powles Hook. After having exchanged two shots, Mr. Colden received a small contusion on the head, the seconds then endeavoured to bring about a reconciliation, but finding the same ineffectual, a third shot was exchanged, when the seconds interposed, and obliged the parties to seperate.

JOHN C. ANTILL,
Second to Mr. Colden.
JOHN E. FISHER,
Second to Mr. Provost.

NORFOLK, November 9.

Arrived last evening, the brig Pegassus, captain Masters, 21 days from Martinique; called at St. Kitts, from whence he sailed with a fleet of near 40 sail, under convoy of the Baltimore sloop of war, who was bound to St. Croix and St. Thomas to take all there ready, under her convoy.

The schooner M'Pherson, and Freemason (Brit.) sailed from this port 2 days before the Pegassus. Off Cape Hatteras, on the 5th instant, fell in with the American brig Friendship, Watts, of and bound to Philadelphia, from St. Sebastians (Spain) out 72 days, in want of provisions which captain Masters supplied him with. He had on board the master of a Philadelphia ship captured in the channel by a French privateer.

Captain Masters also informs, that general Desfourneaux had been sent home to France by the inhabitants of Guadaloupe.

A sloop from the Havanna, and a schooner from Tortola arrived at the Fort last evening.

The schooner Heby, captain Quarles. (formerly the Lucretia of this port) has been upset on the 16th of September last, in a white squall, on her passage from St. Thomas to Port au Prince; the crew were picked up by the Acasto British frigate, and put on board a Spanish prize destined to St. Thomas, but which was recaptured on the 28th by a Spanish privateer, and the whole crew sent into St. Domingo, from whence the mate arrived here on Thursday, in the schooner Johanna Magdelina, after a passage of 20 days.

A COMPENDIOUS SYSTEM

Of Practical Surveying and dividing of land, briefly comprized under the following heads, viz.

TWENTY-THREE Geometrical Definitions, eleven Geometrical Positions, exhibiting to view the properties and dependencies of triangles; followed by problems and examples preparatory to Trigonometry, heights and distances. Then fifteen problems and examples necessarily previous to calculating a Survey succeeded by seven surveys, the area of the four first is found geometrically, and of the whole number by difference of latitude and departure, shewing how to take an inaccessible boundary, find the bearing and distance of the closing line without running it, also the distances to an inaccessible corner from the two adjacent corners, followed by examples of offsets on to winding streams of water, shewing how to ascertain the area without the trouble of measuring the windings with chains and instruments—a crooked water course straitened, and a quantity of land on each side found by these offsets.

Ten examples of dividing land, with many sub-divisions, leading into the most critical circumstances that can occur in practice; an example of Intersections, and an example shewing how the bearings of a field may be truly taken where the needle is attracted, altho' the attraction may vary in quantity and denomination at every station; examples shewing the method of measuring by the chain only. All the rules are clear and explicit. This work contains the tables of difference of latitude and departure and of logarithms.

Orders sent to Joseph and James Cruckshank, Bookfellers, No. 87, High-street, Philadelphia, Bonsall and Niles, 173, Market Street, Baltimore, or the Subscriber in Wilmington (Del.) will be duly attended to.

Those who have the care of subscription papers for this work, are raquested to send their respective numbers as soon as possible, to whom the quota's will be sent agreeably to the proposals.

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE time being fixed on, when the MILITARY LAND (commonly called Knox's) WARRANTS, granted to the United States' army, are to be registered and located,—the subscribers have explored that tract of land on which those warrants are to be laid; with a view, and for the purpose of offering their services as locaters.

We take the liberty of suggesting, "that we are at least as well acquainted with the situation, quality of the soil, &c. of the different townships in the aforesaid tract, as any other person:" this will, perhaps, appear more clearly, by observing, that WILLIAM C. SCHENK assisted in running the Indian boundary line; at which time he considerably traversed that tract; he also assisted in surveying and laying it off into townships, and at other times ranged over it, to gain information. But to obtain a more complete and accurate knowledge, we have lately spent between two and three months, with several assistants, in particularly examining the different townships and quarter townships; by which means we have acquired an accurate knowledge of the whole district.—We now offer our services to the public, as Locaters, with assurances that we will locate every persons warrants intrusted to us to the best advantage, agreeably to their rights of location, which is to be determined according to law. For our services we demand the one equal tenth part, either in lands or warrants, when we locate a full tract, of four thousand acres or more, for one person or firm; the land to be taken in a square, at a corner of the tract; which corner is to be equitably determined before the time of location.—The one equal sixth part, in cash or warrants, when we connect and locate any amount less than four thousand acres. We will be in Philadelphia from December next, until after the time of location, to transact this business. Any person wishing to satisfy himself farther, will please to call on us, by letter, (postage paid) or otherwise; when due attention will be paid, and such vouchers may be seen as we have to offer, which we hope will be satisfactory.

MARTIN BAUM,
WILLIAM C. SCHENCK.

To the Holders of
MILITARY LAND WARRANTS.

THE Subscriber having lately returned from viewing the land, surveyed and appropriated to satisfy the land warrants, issued by the secretary at war, to the officers and soldiers of the late continental army; and having made arrangements with Mr. James Johnson, of Chester county, Pennsylvania, who he left on the land, and who with the assistance of an intelligent inhabitant of that county, will spend five months in exploring the different sections. He will take regular notes, descriptive of the soil, situation, and natural advantages attached to each section in the whole survey—which notes will be placed in the hands of the subscriber previous to the period for locating, thereby enabling him to make the most advantageous locations the priority will admit.

He offers his service to the holders of land warrants of the above description, throughout the United States, to receive their warrants, class them, (as no less quantity than 4000 acres will be registerd at the office of the treasury) have them registered agreeable to law, and attend to make the location at the time appointed in February next.

For transacting the business, one tenth part of the land specified in the warrants will be required, and no other charge, except the postage of letters. All warrants forwarded and letters addressed to the subscriber, at No. 3, Penn-street, Philadelphia, will receive immediate attention.

Each volume will contain above 500 pages, neatly bound and lettered.

Uniformity in size, paper, and binding, will be observed throughout the work; so that, while the subscribers become possessed of a valuable record, an ornament may be added to their libraries.

The price to subscribers will be 2 dolls. 75 cts. per volume, in boards, and 3 dolls. whole bound. But, as the publisher does not intend to print manmore than the number subscribed for, a considerable rise on the price may be expected to non-subscribers.

Each volume will contain about one third less of letter-press than the original edition; but, as the publisher is not yet enabled to determine the extent of the future Journals, which he may be allowed by the public, he cannot ascertain the number of volumes which will comprise the work.

Payments to be made on delivery of each volume.

Subscribers will have it at their option, either to subscribe for the whole of the Journals, up to the present time, or to those only of the Old Congress prior to the organization of the Federal Government.

IN all countries, the proceedings in the commencement of their governments, are lost in darkness and obscurity, owing to a carelessness in the succeeding generation, to preserve the public records, and the attention of the nation, in those rude ages, being called off from their domestic concerns, to engage in wars and conquest. Of what infinite value would the laws of Alfred be, had they been transmitted to our days? Time, that destroys every thing, enhances the value of well authenticated public records, and renders them almost inestimable. It is hoped, that Americans will, therefore, chearfully contribute their assistance in transmitting to posterity the labours of their ancestors—founders of the Columbian nation.

 The work will certainly be advanced with expedition and promptitude. The following will show the support it has already acquired:

"The MEMORIAL of the Subscribers, Citizens, &c. of Philadelphia,

"Respectfully sheweth,

"That having, in our respective avocations, frequent occasions to recur to the Journals of Congress, we experience inconvenience by the scarcity of them: That we understand that Richard Folwell, printer, of Philadelphia, has had it in contemplation to print that public record; and that he hath obtained partial countenance from many individuals; but that he has delayed prosecuting the work, in expectation of encouragement from government, that may adequately indemnify him. We, therefore, respectfully solicit, as the publication is necessary to be disseminated among public bodies, that Congress will, in their wisdom render him such additional encouragement, to that which he has obtained from private individuals, as to enable him to proceed with the work, so that your Memorialists may be enabled to purchase copies of that record for themselves.

The Swift-Sure,
A NEW LINE OF STAGES,
NOW RUNNING BETWEEN
PHILADELPHIA & NEW-YORK,
By the short and pleasant road of Bustleton, Newtown, Scotch Plains, Springfield and Newark.

THE excellence of this road, the populousness of the country through which it passes, with sundry other advantages, which render it so far preferable to the Old Road through Bristol, Brunswick, &c. long ago suggested the propriety of its becoming the Grand Thorough-Fare from Philadelphia to New York. During the present year, a minute survey of it has been taken, and its superiority over the Old Road, both in winter and summer, has been clearly ascertained.—There are good bridges over all the other waters but the Delaware, and here the crossing is performed with great safety and in less than half the time required at the Trenton Ferry. The road is several miles shorter than the old road, but this is among the least of its advantages, because daily experience proves to us, that dispatch as well as comfort in travelling principally depend on the goodness of the road and the levelness of the country, and, in these respects, the New Road is, beyond all comparison, the best. It presents none of those rocky hills, which render the Old Road so fatiguing between the Delaware and Newark. The soil, too, for the greater part, is such as to produce but little mud in winter, and very little dust in summer, which circumstance, added to the beauty of the country, and a considerable proportion of shade, must always render travelling in the latter season peculiarly agreeable.

The Swift-Sure starts from PHILADELPHIA, at 6 o'clock every morning (Sundays excepted) from the GREEN TREE, opposite the Lutheran Church, North Fourth street. It goes through Frankford to Bustleton, where it stops to Breakfast; from Bustletown it goes through Newtown to Penny-town to dinner; from Penny-town through Hopewell, Millstone, Bound-brook, Quibbletown and Plainfield to Scotch Plains to lodge. The next morning it stops at Springfield to breakfast, from whence it goes through Newark and arrives at New-York at noon.

From NEW-YORK it starts at 3 o'clock in the afternoon (from Paulus Hook) and arrives at Philadelphia the next evening. For seats at New-York, application may be made to Edward Bardin, Old Coffee house, to A. Mathieu, corner of Nassau and John streets, to B. Many, no. 48, Courtlandt, corner of Greenwich street, and to Michael Little, at his hotel, no. 42, Broad street.

Fare for passengers, Five Dollars.
Way passengers 6 Cents per Mile.

Each passenger is allowed to take on 14lbs. of baggage carriage free; but all other baggage, taken on by a passenger, will be charged at 4 cents per pound weight.

With respect to packages sent on without passengers, the proprietors presume they have adopted a regulation, which, though unknown to other lines of stages, they think must meet with general approbation, They pledge themselves to make good every package on the following conditions. The person who delivers the package at the office shall see it entered in the stage-book, for which entry he shall pay 6 cents; he will then state the value of the package, and pay (exclusive of the carriage) one per cent. on the value, as insurance, and for which he will receive a receipt. Thus, for instance, if he estimates his package at one dollar, he will pay one cent. and if at one hundred dollars, he will pay one dollar insurance, and in like proportion for packages of any other value.

Very few persons it is presumed, will dislike this regulation; it will however, be optionable with every one to avail himself of this security or not. But the proprietors think it right to state very explicitly, that they will be responsible for the safe delivery of no package, which is not regularly entered, and for which an insurance receipt cannot be produced.

In the distribution of the route, the greatest care has been taken to fix on such places and taverns as always afford a good accommodation and entertainment for the passengers at the most reasonable rates. The stages are well equipped furnished with fleet and steady horses, and committed to the care of intelligent sober and obliging drivers. The proprietors themselves live at the different towns and villages where the stages will stop, so that the conduct of the persons they employ is continually an object of their attention.—They take care also to see that the passengers are well provided for and politely treated at the taverns, and that no sort of chicanery or insolence is practised upon them; in short, they have spared neither pains nor expence to render the SWIFT-SURE the very best line of stages in America.

The line has now run nearly a month, during which time a great number of gentlemen have gone through, both from Philadelphia and New-York. Every passenger has found the road to surpass very far all that has been said of its excellence; and the Proprietors of the Swift Sure are extremely happy to hear the behaviou of their drivers, and the treatment at Taverns spoken of with the highest satisfaction.
